Indian Rights and Indian Wrongs.

While, on the one hand, we disclaim all sympathy with that weak and silly sentimentality which would make the rights and well-being of the Anglo-Saxon race secondary and subsidiary to that of the Indians, we must, on the other hand, enter our solemn protest against the doctrine that the Indian has no rights, is entitled to no consideration. Perhaps, in dealing with this subject, the most successful appeal will be made to the selfish sentiment. Looking at our neighbors, a salutary lesson is presented. The United States Government for the most part held the rights of the red man at a very low standard, viewing the whole subject less, we suspect, from the higher ground of moral responsibility than from that of mere present gain of dollars and cents. It is scarcely surprising that, when good men did this, bad men should go further. Hence we find the frontiersman, the pioneer, and the desperado shooting the Indians like fun. We would not be understood as classifying frontiersmen and pioneers under the head of bad men. The reverse is not infrequently the case. It is said that American riflemen have often been known, while traveling westward, to draw a bead upon an Indian and pop him over, just for the fun of seeing him jump at the touch of cold lead. Looking at the whole history of the Republic, the believer in retributive justice is apt to imagine that he can detect in the continuous and bloody Indian troubles, the finger of that God who protects and avenges the wrongs of the weakest of His creatures. Looking at it, the political economist thinks he can see an illustration of the proposition that justice is ever cheaper than injustice. If all the scalps and all the plunder, if all the ravished women and murdered children, if all the millions upon millions piled expended upon bootless Indian wars were set out in panoramic array, what a terrible picture would be presented! Now, we do not mean to say that the adoption of the most thorough and just Indian policy that humanity in its very best estate could devise, would have transformed these red-skinned, scalp-locked devils into angels of mercy and goodness. Yet it is highly probable that had a proper policy been pursued towards them from the first, the case would have been very different. A prominent characteristic ever attributed to the Indian is that of distrust, with its twin brother, treachery. What has made the Indian distrustful and treacherous towards the white man? Is there not a cause? Is not that cause to be found in the treatment he has received from the white man? The Indian question is especially important to us in this colony. There is unquestionably a great difference between the natives on the shores of the North Pacific and those inhabiting the central and Atlantic territories. The fish-eating Indians of our seaboard are not to be compared with those in the interior. They are low, ill-favored, spiritless, degraded—all most too mean to fight. Did they partake of the spirit, the courage, the prowess of the Pawnees, the Sioux, the Camanches, the Iroquois, the Blackfeet, the Cheyennes, the life of a white man in British Columbia would not be worth a beaver skin. Our comparative safety consists in their absolute degradation. But, inferior as are the seaboard Indians of this Colony, and comparatively safe as the whites may conceive themselves to be from that condition, the question of an Indian policy loses none of its importance to us. Ten Indians to one white man is fearful odds in a new and rough country. And with all his degradation and inertia, the Indian on this coast has proved himself capable of becoming either a cowardly, treacherous murderer or a good Christian man, according as his passions have been directed in the upward path of virtue and civilization, or in the downward one of vice and corruption. It will hardly be necessary to point to the Bute Inlet or Barclay Sound atrocities, to prove the one, or to Mr. Duncan's New Jerusalem, at Metlakatlah, or Mr. White's Nanaimo convert, who, on Sabbath week, preached so eloquently at Chilliwack, to confirm the other. It may safely be assumed that the most degraded fish-eating Indians of British Columbia will be good or bad, harmless or dangerous, according as we deal with them. Whatsoever measure we mete it shall be measured to us again. There is this alternative presented to us as a colony: Shall we ignore the rights of the Indians altogether and go in for exterminating them; or shall we, recognizing their claims and our responsibility, adopt a just, kind, but firm and Christian policy towards them? The former only implies rifles and bad whiskey. The latter involves a thorough Indian policy, by means of which the Indian may be taught to regard the white man as the personification of honour and justice. It involves the duty of teaching the Indian to understand and appreciate British law, as well as Britain's religion. At present we hang them without teaching them to understand the first principles of our laws. To enforce British law upon a people in total ignorance of its principles and requirements is scarcely in accordance with our notions of ethics. Which course shall we adopt? Treat the Indian as a brute beast, and exterminate him, as we would any other dangerous animal? or teach him his responsibility to God and to the Queen, and make of him in reality what he is only in name, a British subject?

"DID IT HURT THE ENGINE."—As one of the engine companies in Bangor, Me., was going to a fire in that city a few nights since, one of the firemen tripped and fell from the drag, and unfortunately the wheels of the heavy machine passed directly over his chest and face. All supposed he was killed, and were picking him up when he came to, and after spitting out a mouthful of blood and dust, inquired with much feeling, "Did it hurt the engine much?" He seemed to feel relieved when he learnt that she had only sprung an axle. His anxiety for the welfare of the "machine" was refreshing in these selfish days.

English Mail Summary.

Our files are to the 8th May.

THE MAYOR OF CORK DISMISSED.

The case of O'Sullivan, Mayor of Cork, was met in a very prompt and effective way. An act for his dismissal from office was passed through both Houses of Parliament and became law, all in a few days. The House of Commons was all but unanimous in approving the course taken by Government. The only ghost of an excuse or palliation urged by any one for the Mayor was urged by Mr. Maguire, and what he had to say only amounted to a charitable supposition that O'Sullivan must have been drunk at the time when he spoke of O'Farrell as a liar. Referring to this subject the Saturday Review says, "At any rate we have one ray of light in the dark sky of Irish affairs. We have got to an end of the Mayor of Cork. It is using a tremendous machinery to bring in a special Act of legislation, hurried through Parliament, to snuff out the silly, prating creature, but there was no other remedy so efficacious; and the British Legislature may compare itself to a steam-hammer which can with equal ease deal out the exact stroke that will crush an elephant and the exact stroke that will crush a fly. The last buzz and flare of the Cork fly was, we must own, not without effect; and if the Mayor was to be crushed, he showed some ingenuity and humour in selecting as his last official act the holding of a midnight meeting in which he expressed his confidence in Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Balfour. He had at least the comfort of damaging his destroyers by swearing they were his friends. He is crushed now, and we may attend to other matters. He and his follies are but a speck on the surface of the great question of the real state of Ireland and of the remedies for any remedies for this state are to be found." The writer in another London paper, the Illustrated London News, says, "The prompt and vigorous conduct of the Government in regard to that fellow O'Sullivan, by some identity of the citizens' Mayor of Cork is to be commended. A short Act degrades—no, displaces him. Last Sunday the amazing creature went to the Cork Bridewell and let out all the prisoners. I suppose that Lord Fermoy and the other gentlemen who have so properly condemned his antics will see that he and his mob commit no outrages by way of celebrating his exit from office. The attempt is so likely that it is worth while giving the hint. He might be told to find bait to an amount which would protect the citizens."

GREAT BRITAIN AND HER N. A. POSSESSIONS.

The Saturday Review contains a very able article upon the relations of Great Britain and her North American Colonies, and the policy of the former towards the latter. The subject is taken up in connection with Senator Sumner's celebrated speech on the Alabama question. Referring to the position assumed by Sumner, it says, "A litigant who lays his damages at an enormous amount generally looks not so much to the probable verdict as to the chance of frightening his adversary into a compromise, relating perhaps to some matter which is wholly unconnected with the ostensible dispute. The crime of profanity seems remote from the title to a freehold, and yet it was on the charge of blaspheming God and the King that Abah sought to obtain possession of Naboth's vineyard. (Not two hirings, but twenty millions of false witnesses, themselves for the most part speaking under a delusion, are ready to swear that the Proclamation of Neutrality was a breach of friendship and of international law. The prosecutor or plaintiff, as in ancient times, claims to be judge in his own cause, and hopes to decree to himself possession of the coveted vineyard on the other side of Niagara. If Naboth had confessed his alleged crime, and if he had offered to pay a fine of innumerable shekels of silver, he would have been less summarily subjected to expropriation." The writer proceeds to deal with the question of defence in the event of war with the United States. If the great body of the North American Colonists elected to resist the invaders and retain their connection with the parent country, the whole Imperial power would be employed on their behalf. If not—let them go! Vancouver Island and British Columbia are within easy reach of San Francisco. It would be impossible to offer any resistance on the Pacific seaboard. It is scarcely a consolation that forced sacrifice of Canada would involve no material loss. All classes of politicians have long since made up their minds to concede the independence of British America whenever it should be desired by the Colonists themselves. Separation would involve the right to join the United States at pleasure, although the Canadians themselves have hitherto deprecated annexation. It is not impossible that in the course of time their objections might be overcome, and Englishmen have no real interest in preventing or retarding the union of the whole North American Continent into a single Republic. The formation of four or five States of the Union to the North of the great Lakes would entail no injury on England, if it were not attended with insult. If it is proposed as the alternative of a white sheet, or a halter, and of the payment of a fabulous penalty, it only remains to defend at all hazards the national honor. A demand which would be favorably received, if it were preferred by the Colonists, becomes an outrage on an intruder. If, however, the Canadians declined to concur in the maintenance of Imperial rights, it would only remain, to acquiesce in a mortifying necessity. Such is an outline of the view taken by the Saturday Review upon the whole subject of American and British policy.

NOTICES IN BRIEF ON MISCELLANEOUS TOPICS.

The total number of paupers in the metropolis at the end of April was 142,055. The publication of a London evening paper, called the Express, has been discontinued. Miss Burdett Coutts laid the first stone of the new institution building for the Royal Society for the prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Six hundred of the workmen longest engaged on the Columbia Square market were entertained at dinner by Miss Burdett Coutts, on May Day. The final report of the Clerkenwell Relief Fund shows the contributions to have been £10,073 14 10. The Marquis of Bute, in token of gratitude for his conversion to the Romish faith, is about founding and endowing a magnificent hospital for lepers in Jerusalem. Mr. Churchill, Consul at Zanzibar, reports that all inquiries, backed up by an offer of £100 for each captive, fail to procure any information as to their existence. It is stated that the Atlantic Telegraph Company will reduce the tariff for ten words to £2; at the same time an important reduction will be made for newspaper messages, which will place them at two shillings a word. Major General Edward Froese has been appointed Lieutenant Governor of the island of Guernsey. The example of Mr. G. Peabody has been followed by Mr. A. T. Stewart, of New York, who has given $5,000,000 for charitable purposes. The Prince and Princess of Wales had returned in good health, and his Royal Highness would hold a levee at St. James' Palace, on the 1st June, on behalf and by command of Her Majesty. June 2nd was appointed for the celebration of Her Majesty's birthday. Prince Arthur was starting in Ireland. Receptions, balls, and illuminations were the order of the day wherever he went. His Royal Highness had caused to be forwarded to the Corporation of Cork a letter declining their invitation to visit that city.

THE HORSE GUARDS ON TEMPERANCE.

A general order has been issued from the Horse Guards notifying that the following scale of fines for drunkenness will in future be enforced:—First and second acts, admonition or confinement to barracks, at the discretion of the commanding officer. For every subsequent act of drunkenness, it will within three months of former act, 7s. 6d.; if over three and within six months, 5s.; if over six and within nine months, 2s. 6d.; if over nine and within twelve months, company entry; if over twelve months, to be treated as the first act. When the four preceding acts have been committed in twelve months 2s. 6d. to be added to the foregoing amounts. The fines to be levied in the colonial corps (the Royal Canadian Rifle Regiment excepted) will in each case be one half the amounts specified, and the maximum daily stoppage 2d.

An Unknown Island World.

Up to the time of the destruction of whale ships by Semmes at the Ascension Islands, no American man-of-war has ever visited this important rendezvous of whalers in the Pacific Ocean. There are hundreds and even thousands of Islands in the Pacific, many of which have no name; others are only sighted by an occasional ship going to or returning from ports in Asia. We send expeditions to discover the phenomena of the North Pole. But the Pacific Archipelago—a great island world—is to-day half unknown. There ought to be an American naval station somewhere among these islands. At present, they are attached to the East India station, and for this reason are almost wholly neglected. When a shipmaster designs to commit barratry, he has a secure hiding place among these islands. Our national ships are never seen there; and merchantmen keep clear of them, unless an occasional landing is made for vegetables and other supplies. A few years since a shipmaster now sailing out of this port stopped at one of these unknown islands for a supply of wood. He found there two English runaway sailors (probably) and about 15 native women. There was nothing up on the island but an abundance of coconuts, with great numbers of fish in the lagoon. The Captain left an assortment of such tropical seeds as he had with him, including melon orange and sweet potatoes, adding to the little stock a pair of small pigs. The island soon afterwards became a marvel among whalers for the wealth of its tropical fruits, and some years afterwards a load of live hogs were brought from that island to this market.

There are hundreds of these islands over which no sovereignty has been extended, some inhabited and others waiting for inhabitants, and merely of the larger ones capable of producing a profusion of tropical fruits. These islands, if not already, are likely to become the rendezvous of all the robbers and pirates of the Pacific Ocean. Here the freebooters can find refuge and settle the fate of many a ship so certainly that no one will be left to say by what peril of the sea she was lost. There ought to be a naval station, where war ships may rendezvous and have some special watch and oversight of this half unknown island world.—American Paper.

There are only two marriageable girls at Coos, Oregon. On Sunday half a dozen or more young fellows sit all day on the verandahs in front of the ladies' houses, while each fair one looks at her followers through the half-open window. The lovers all the while are whittling bits of white pine. At dark they move home; but the damsels find these visits profitable for there is generally left behind a pile of shavings big enough to light fires for the rest of the week.

DIRECTIONS FOR USING KANE'S IMPERIAL CONDENSED SOAP.—1st. For an ordinary washing (from three to four doz. a piece) dissolve one-eighth pound of soap in sufficient boiling water to cover well your white clothes. Pour it over the clothes and let them soak thirty minutes, stirring them occasionally. If the water is hard use a little more soap.

2nd. When soaked, wring them out, rub a little soap upon the soiled parts, and put them into the boiler with sufficient water to boil them, having first dissolved one-eighth pound of soap in the water, and boil them ten or fifteen minutes, then rub them well, in warm water and rinse in cold water, blue and hang out to dry.

3rd. Should there be any articles not thoroughly cleansed, rub the soiled places with a little soap and replace them in the boiler and boil a few minutes longer.

4th. For colored or woolen clothes use the same as common soap.

THE UNDERSIGNED BEING ABOUT TO LEAVE the Colony, requests, if there be any accounts against him still outstanding, that the same may be presented at once. WILLIAM A. G. YOUNG.

Victoria, May 22, 1903.

County Court.

(Before Justice Denbigh.)

Barron vs. LeCuyer.—The Plaintiff sought to recover the value of a horse said to have been killed by defendant's son. The case was non-suited, on the ground that the father was not liable for the act of the son.

Deans vs. Baker.—Plaintiff sued to recover damages for the unlawful detention of his horse by defendant. Evidence was submitted to prove a damage in consequence of plaintiff having his horse to work his farm. Judgment for plaintiff $5.

Mr. Drake appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. Bishop for defendant.

ANOTHER SETTLEMENT.—The steamer Eliza Anderson will, this week, convey Mr. George Black from Olympia to New Westminster. Mr. Black has been successfully engaged in the stock business these many years, in the neighbourhood of New Westminster. He has been sojourning in the land of the web-foot, and, like Jacob of old, on his return from Padamaram, Mr. Black returns with much cattle. Unlike Jacob, however, he has been content with one wife, nor did he permit the old man her father, to "couch" him. Mr. Black returns to settle permanently on the Lower Fraser, where he and his bride will meet with a hearty welcome, and where, we feel assured, he will contribute largely to the prosperity of that important section of the country.

GOING AWAY.—We advised some weeks ago, to the fact that Mr. Cox was about to leave this Colony. Circumstances delayed the departure of Mr. Cox till now. We have every reason for believing, however, that these lines meet the public eye the subject of them will be on his way to a "foreign shore," having decided to sail by the G. S. Wright early this morning. We need not remind our readers how long and prominently Mr. Cox has been connected with this Colony; but we may be permitted to express the regret felt at his departure, and a sincere wish for his prosperity in other lands.

ACCIDENT.—The Seattle Intelligencer of Monday says, a man named Charles Wilson was severely injured at a logging camp, near Port Orchard, by being caught between two logs, mangle his limbs in a shocking manner. The same paper mentions the serious illness of Mr. G. A. Melz. From the same source we learn that people are coming from the Upper Columbia to settle on the Sound.

SOUND POLICY.—During the debate on the Irish Church Bill, in the Commons, the Lord Advocate said Scotland was as Presbyterian now as in 1649, and they had ever held that it was wrong to force an alien Church on the majority. He denied that it was understood by the Scotch constituencies that no compensation to Presbyterians or Roman Catholics was to be made out of the revenues of the Irish Church.

FOR NANKIVO.—The str. Douglas, Captain Clark, will sail for Nankivo, this morning at 2 o'clock. D. G. M. R. Burnaby and several Officers and members of the District Grand Lodge, F. & A. M., will go up with her to hold a communication at Nankivo.

LEACH RIVER.—Information was received yesterday to the effect that Mr. Harzett was piping gaily to the tune of $1.50 per diem!

TELEGRAPH EXTENSION.—Ground will be broken to-day for two lines of telegraph connecting Government House and the Colonial Secretary's office with the telegraph office in the city. For these branches two instruments called the Magneto Dial Telegraph, made by Edmonds and Hamblin, Boston, have been received. These are the articles which have been mistaken by certain unsophisticated persons for sewing machines. They are talking machines.

THE SAVINGS BANK.—Yesterday, the Manager of the Savings Bank (Mr. John Graham) deposited in the Bank of British Columbia the first of the savings Bank funds, about $500, we believe. Thus a commencement has been made in what we venture to hope will form the nucleus of a great provident institution in whose advantages thousands of people will yet share.

THE PETITION.—We understand the petition to the Governor, on behalf of Mr. White, is being very generally signed by all classes of our citizens. If there should be any who have not yet signed the document they should do so at once as it is proposed to present it as soon as His Excellency returns, which may be immediately.

FOR NEW WESTMINSTER.—The steamer Enterprise sailed for New Westminster yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, with twenty passengers and 63 tons of freight. Amongst the passengers were Mr. and Mrs. Foster, of Lillooet, Mrs. McRoberts, of New Westminster, Mr. Nelson of Victoria, and Capt. Irving.

FROM OLYMPIA.—The Eliza Anderson arrived from Olympia and ports on the Sound, yesterday morning at 12:30, with 32 passengers and a number of cattle. She returned again at 12 noon, to Olympia, in order to convey the family and stock of Mr. Black to New Westminster.

POLICE COURT.—A single case came before this Court yesterday, Manuel Durit, on a charge of stealing $50 from Chas. Levy. The case was adjourned until to-day.

FOR PORTLAND.—The steamer G. S. Wright, Capt. Langdon, will sail from the H. B. Co.'s wharf this morning at 5 o'clock, for Portland direct.

REDUCTION OF RATES.—The rate of telegrams from this coast to the East has been reduced to $7.50 for ten words. We cannot but think that a further reduction would tend to increase the receipts of the company.

COAL EXPORT.—During May we exported a little over four thousand tons of coal. There should have been four hundred thousand shipped.

THE W. T. ELECTIONS.—According to a despatch received last night, Jefferson and Knap counties have given Mr. Garfield a majority of 342.

NO DESPATCH.—The people over the water were so completely absorbed with their election matters yesterday, that they could not find time to transmit our news despatch.

APOLOGISTIC.—Owing to the pressure of advertisements, we are obliged to appear before our readers this morning with rather less reading matter than we could wish.

STRAWBERRIES.—Our contemporary of the Seattle Intelligencer, has been receiving a present of strawberries, one of which measured 5 1/2 inches in circumference!
